

Sound Off

I'd like to kind of answer about what someone said about Loretta's death. It seems that whoever said that knew an awful lot about it. They said there was black, curly hair in the bedroom, and they talked about how the bucket in the bathroom smelled. It seems like they know enough that they should tell the good, upstanding law officials which would be the state police in the county. It could lead to the solution of the little girl's murder.